Naiara Palacio and Giovana Belluscio

Contahistoria

Every weekend, Little Red Riding Hood visited her grandmother to have tea and eat her vegan cookies.

She always walked through the forest but was never afraid.

One day she heard noises in the bushes and saw a hungry but calm wolf. When she arrived, she noticed that once again the cookies were missing from the window. Becoming suspicious, she stayed overnight to see who was taking them.

That night she hid and saw the wolf stealing the cookies.
She jumped out and hit him
with a broom, but the wolf, surprised, explained that he was a vegetarian and that he loved cookies.

Feeling bad, Little Red Riding Hood and her grandmother invited him for tea. The hunter arrived, but after learning the truth, he joined them and they all enjoyed the cookies together.
